

Quantitative monitoring of biphasic reactions using flow systems by Raman spectroscopy

Interactive Poster Presentation

In this contribution, our recent work in developing a fully automated system for monitoring changes in the composition of two immiscible phases by Raman spectroscopy using a flow sampling system is presented.

- Hover over the poster to enlarge
- Use your mouse wheel to zoom.

